Vice Chancellor's New Year Message

It is with feelings of satisfactory accomplishments that BUIITEMS bade farewell to 2010 and entered into a fresh enterprising year with determination to achieve even greater heights in future. In spite of the challenging resource handicaps, BUIITEMS continued its forward march by way of promoting quality education with determination and strength of purpose, despite all odds.

The universities play a crucial role in leading the nations to positions of esteem and strength. Advanced knowledge is the most important contributor to professional and economic development. Today the vital share of knowledge in the world economy and the political dominance of the developed countries, are so conspicuous that developing nations like ours can not afford to ignore the fundamentals of the knowledge foundation i.e education, technical skills and research. Such hybrid academic approach is essential for the emergence of our nation as a power to be reckoned.

There can be no substitute for hard work and determination; there is no room for complaisance or lethargy in the modern world of competition; there is no short-cut to respectable living; and there can not be any compromise on the quality of academic and professional achievements. By the grace of Almighty, BUIITEMS has succeeded in building traditions of discipline, hard work, open-minded educational approaches and insistence on quality and excellence. Our students have been upholding the norms of meaningful acquisition of knowledge and unprejudiced endeavor to excel.

Let us resolve, once again to maintain our traditions and welcome the New Year with the pledge of infusing a new spirit of search for excellence in every field. Let us resolve to fix new targets to be achieved, so that we may be able to raise our heads higher when we take stock of our performance, a year later. For this, every one of us will have to develop regular work habits, apply clear thinking and demonstrate the courage to compete.

BUIITEMS has opened a number of new venues for academic enterprises. The students are advised to exploit those venues to the maximum, so that they may be able to claim kinship with the advanced modern world. They must shrug off the trend of being led. They ought rather to lead by being innovative and enterprising.

Wish you a brave and bright future.

Convocation 2010

Reported by: Khalida Durrani

Vibrant colors of red, blue and green bedecked the front of the tastefully decorated Expo Center, adding warmth and color, in stark contrast to the cold weather one expects on the onset of winter. BUIITEMS once again opened its doors to the public to witness the celebration of the 6th Convocation held on 7th December 2010.

Led by the visionary talents of Engr. Ahmed Farooq Bazai, the organizers brought the event to life with the use of display screens. Concerted efforts were made for this event so that it would linger in the minds of the passing out graduates, their families and the city of Quetta.

The academic procession commenced with the passing out graduates, followed by the faculty in reverse order according to their designation. Following them were the University Senate members, the Pro Vice Chancellor, Vice Chancellor and Honorable Chancellor. The guests rose as the procession entered the hall marching to the tunes of the band. Members of the University Senate formed the flanks on the stage, while Controller of Examinations, Pro Vice Chancellor, Vice Chancellor and Honorable Chancellor took seats on the Centre table. His Excellency Nawab Zulfiqar Magsi, Chancellor / Governor Balochistan formally declared the convocation open.

The proceedings commenced with recitation of verses from the Holy Quran and recital of Naat in praise of the Holy Prophet (PBUH) by Hafiz Riaz-ul-Haq & Mr. Hammad Jaffar of BS (P&G) respectively.

Vice Chancellor Engr. Ahmed Farooq Bazai in his welcome address thanked the Honorable Chief Guest for gracing the occasion and expressed gratitude to Almighty Allah for blessing the efforts of the students and faculty and for all the good fortunes bestowed upon us during difficult times. He said, "Despite the financial difficulties around 400 students stand before us educated and trained to face the challenges of the practical world, with the aim of bringing prosperity to Pakistan and Balochistan in particular". He emphasized that these students are the flag bearers of BUIITEMS. They are expected to prove themselves worthy of honor with their capabilities and knowledge in their practical life, as they have the potential of bringing a positive change in the country. BUIITEMS was proud to announce the establishment of the new Directorates of Research and University Advancement & Financial Assistance. The Directorate of Research had been established with the object of promoting research activities of the faculty and to establish and maintain linkages and partnerships with the Alumni of BUIITEMS and national and international academic institutions to promote the image of BUIITEMS and to open avenues of further academic endeavors.

BUIITEMS has expanded the path of growth by offering five new academic programs: BS in Architecture, Food Technology, Fine Arts, Plant Sciences & Informatics, and Micro Biology & Pathology. For these programs we have seen an unexpected demand for admissions as the scope for qualified individuals in these fields is rising immensely. The conferment of the degrees was the highlight of the day. This year the conferment was of 3 groups the Master in Sciences, Master in Business Administration and Bachelor in Sciences in their respective disciplines. The Vice Chancellor conferred degrees upon the passing out graduates. It was a matter of great pride and joy to see the students receive what they had worked so hard to achieve, their degree from the Honorable Chancellor. A particular student Mr. Sanaullah Faiz of BS Computer Engineering was awarded a shield by the Honorable Chancellor to the standing ovation from the audience for his exemplary efforts during his tenure in BUIITEMS. The finale of the conferment was the recognition and jubilation of those 20 individual students who during their stay in BUIITEMS had succeeded in becoming the "jewels in the crown" by attaining top merit positions. They were decorated with gold medals to the warm appreciation and standing ovation from the audience.

The Honorable Chancellor / Governor Balochistan, in his address praised the university authorities on holding a successful convocation and in particular he eulogized the services of the Vice Chancellor for his commendable services in delivering quality education to the students. He congratulated the passing graduates on their achievements and commended the valuable efforts of their parents and teachers in supporting and encouraging their children to get to this point in their lives. He stressed that Balochistan is equally rich in talent and that BUIITEMS is a standing testimony of it. "We are gifted by nature in respect of our important geographical location. Our region is so strategically important that it has witnessed "great epoch-making developments".

He further said, "We can not rely on foreign assistance alone; our young men and women have to fill themselves with real knowledge, solid capabilities and capacities to stand to the test of modern times and to grasp the rewarding opportunities of future." In his continued support to our students the Honorable Chancellor announced cash awards of Rs. 100,000 for each of the gold medalists.

Qari Arshad Yameen led the gathering in offering "Dua". The ceremony was officially closed by the Chief Guest and the guests were escorted for refreshments. All in all Convocation 2010 will ever be best remembered for its intricate planning, professional decorum and an overwhelming sense of achievement and hope for a prosperous future.

Seminar on “Balochistan Government E-Transformation System”

Reported by: Mirza Aamir Mehmood

A research seminar was arranged by the Faculty of ICT in the seminar hall on October 07, 2010 to launch a research project. The speaker of the seminar was Mirza Aamir Mehmood. The seminar was presided over by the Vice Chancellor Engr. Ahmed Farooq Bazai. Deans, Officers, Chairpersons and Faculty members participated in the seminar.

In Pakistan and especially in Balochistan almost every government office is working on paper based environment. To change this situation the Faculty of ICT, Balochistan University of Information Technology, Engineering and Management Sciences is working on developing e-government frame work for Balochistan.

To achieve this important goal, the very first step is to develop a Back-Office Application Suite in order to create a paperless office environment. Project team Prof. Dr. Abdul Hussain Shah Bukhari (Dean FICT), Mr. Mirza Aamir Mehmood (Assistant Professor), Mr. Ahasham Sajid (Assistant Professor) and Mr. Junaid Khan (Lecturer). US Consul General Visits BUIITEMS

Reported by: Prof S.M. Niazi

It is a matter of pride for Balochistan University of Information Technology, Engineering and Management Sciences that prominent foreign dignitaries include a visit to BUIITEMS as an essential part of their itinerary when they come to Quetta. One such visit took place on October 19, 2010 when an American diplomatic delegation, led by Mr. William Martin, US Consul General, Karachi called on Engr. Ahmed Farooq Bazai, Vice Chancellor in his secretariat. The delegation was escorted to the video-conferencing hall BUIITEMS, where they were given a briefing on different aspects of the university. The Vice Chancellor specifically referred to the various types of financial assistance provided to diligent/needful students.

He pointed out that students not only from Balochistan are benefiting from the educational facilities provided at BUIITEMS, but a sizeable number of foreign students are also availing such facilities. More than 40 Afghan students also have recently been admitted for studies in the engineering programs of the university. He rightly claimed that the academic activities at BUIITEMS have served to revolutionize the concept of education in Balochistan and now there is a general clamor for competition and merit. The Vice Chancellor expressed his gratitude to the US authorities for the provision of USAID scholarships to the students.

Mr. William Martin and other members of the delegation admired the exemplary facilities provided to the students at BUIITEMS.

In the seminar room, the diplomatic delegation was warmly greeted by a large number of faculty members and students. US Consul General, Mr. William Martin, in his brief address to the audience, eulogized the university authorities for the marvelous work being done at BUIITEMS. He expressed good wishes for the future of the university, stating that the atmosphere and academic standard found on the campus had been beyond his expectations. He lauded the hard work of the university authorities in accomplishing what was unthought-of before. "The quality of instruction imparted to students here is in no way inferior to that of world-renowned institutions. BUIITEMS is playing a vital role in reshaping the destinies of her students, and is thus bringing about a mind-set change in the whole region," he said. Mr. William Martin offered to build-up further the links and ties of cooperation between BUIITEMS and American universities. The US Consul General emphasized the need of open-minded approach in education. He stated that the youth of Balochistan could play a vital role in countering bigotry and extremism. He expressed the desire to see frequent student-faculty-exchange visits between Pakistan and USA in order to understand the culture and civilizations of the two countries more clearly. "Students from Balochistan and teachers from Balochistan ought to seek more information about the training programs offered by the US government and US institutions," he said. "The establishment of the proposed US Consulate in Quetta could go a long way in ironing out the obstacles faced by the students intending to go for higher studies in the United States".

The address by Mr. William Martin was followed by an informative question and answer session during which issues like American Visa policy for students and teachers were frankly discussed. The discussion was mainly focused on educational topics as BUIITEMS is a politics-free institution and students and teachers are mainly driven by the urge to learn only.

Group from National Institute of Management visits BUIITEMS

Reported by: Faisal Durrani

A group of high ranking officers participating in the Management Course at National Institute of Management (NIM) Quetta, paid a visit to the Takatu Campus of the Balochistan University of Information technology, Engineering and Management Sciences (BUIITEMS) on October 27, 2010. The group was led by Mir Javed Iqbal, Director General NIM.

Vice Chancellor BUIITEMS, Engr. Ahmed Farooq Bazai welcomed the visitors and gave them a briefing on the history, academic programs, facilities and salient achievements of the university. He stated that developed power-wielding nations of the world owe their supremacy to good educational institutions. All the economic, social and political growth of a country depends on the work of educated human resource capital, which devises innovative techniques of handling the present day challenges. Valuable research conducted at the universities leads to prosperous enterprises. The students, on their part, play a vital role in revolutionizing the mind-set of the society, as their influence permeates to the grass-root level.

Vice Chancellor briefing the NIM delegation

The members of the group were taken on a round to the various laboratories where students were engaged in the task of learning through practice. The group members were impressed to see the latest equipment, on which the students and the faculty work to gain knowledge and discover new truths. The CMS system with its unique applications was the focus of interest for all the visitors and Mr. Mohammad Anwar Khan, Director IT responded to their queries. The huge dimensions of the Expo Center with a seating capacity of more than 2000 were specially noticed as a remarkable feature of the campus. Responding to queries from the group-members, the Vice Chancellor stated that BUIITEMS had revolutionized the very concept of education in Balochistan during a short period of eight years. Our students are not content with covering the prescribed courses of study or with passing the examination only. They are rather inclined to ponder over academic issues related to their respective fields of study independently and derive the end results in the light of latest findings the world over. BUIITEMS has contributed to the country's human resource capital with the production of competent, well-informed and capable youth for tackling the contemporary challenges. There is now scope for better exploitation of the provincial resources, thanks to the availability of the much needed efficient youth force from this university.

Mir Javed Iqbal, Director General, National Institute of Management, Quetta acknowledged the immensely valuable services of BUIITEMS and appreciated that BUIITEMS alumni are performing creditably in various organizations of national and international repute. He thanked the Vice Chancellor and his colleagues for the marvelous arrangements made for the group's visit to BUIITEMS. He also presented the shield of his Institute to the Vice Chancellor.

Reported by: Javeria Tareen

The Federal State Minister for Industries, Dr. Ayatullah Durrani visited BUIITEMS on November 8, 2010. He was given a briefing by the Vice Chancellor, Engr. Ahmed Farooq Bazai in the video-conferencing room of the university. The Vice Chancellor high-lighted significant academic and administrative features of the university during the briefing. He stated that BUIITEMS is providing quality education to more than 4000 students in 39 different programs of study. All programs offered at the university conform to international standards and are recognized world-wide. The Vice Chancellor stressed the need of constant review of curriculum in view of the rapid developments in the world. Our graduates have to come up to the standards fixed by the reputed organizations.

Mr. Ayatullah Durrani with University authorities.

Only then they would be acceptable in the job market. The Vice Chancellor referred to the large-scale absorption of BUIITEMS graduates in various fields of professional importance. He lamented at inadequate release of funds by the federal government that had put the university in difficulty and the five year future plan of BUIITEMS is hard hit by this situation. Everyone has to come forward in the noble cause of rescuing the educational institutions out of the quandary caused by the insufficient supply of funds.

Federal Minister of state expressing his views.

The state Minister was taken on a round of the laboratories, conference room, seminar halls and the different academic departments of the university. He remarked that the standard of education at BUIITEMS is comparable to that of the best universities of the world. Students of BUIITEMS have the confidence and capability to compete at the national and international levels. He pledged full cooperation with BUIITEMS on the part of the government as no community can advance without providing quality education to the youth. He stated that the government is keenly interested in promoting higher education.

He expressed good wishes for the students and paid homage to the teaching faculty of the university.

Workshop on “Self Assessment Report Writing” through Video Conferencing

Reported by: Dara Shikoh

The Directorate of Quality Enhancement and Accreditation conducted a one-day training workshop on “Self Assessment Report Writing” via Video Conferencing system on December 29, 2010.

Dr. Abdul Wahid Usmani, Director Quality Enhancement Cell DOW University, was the resource person. The main object of the training was to familiarize the faculty members having the additional responsibility of Self Assessment Report Writing of the degree programs assigned to them by their respective departments, with the basic requirements. Dr. Usmani shed light on the Vision and Mission of the Higher Education Commission, and the importance of Self Assessment Reports of the degree programs. SARs is the future requirement and it will play a pivotal role in acquiring the memberships of the world’s renowned quality societies as well as grants issued by HEC. To evaluate the standing of the university, public opinion regarding degree programs is an essential ingredient, and for this purpose it is needed to document SARs for each degree program. Each degree program must have SAR with vision and mission along with its clearly discerned objectives. Program Teams from MS Plant Sciences, BS Petroleum & Gas Engineering, BS Economics, BS Electronic Engineering, BS Mining, BS Chemical Engineering, BS Textile Engineering, BS Physics, BS Architecture and BS Geological Engineering attended the workshop. Queries were welcomed throughout the proceedings and addressed accordingly.

Joint Research Project Undertaken

Reported by: Dr. Mohammad Saeed

Dr. Abdul Wali

“Department of Biotechnology and Informatics” BUIITEMS, has developed working collaboration with “Max Plank Institute of Molecular Genetics” Berlin Germany for studying skeletal disorders prevailing among German and Pakistani population. In this connection Dr. Abdul Wali Tareen Assistant Professor was invited to Germany for one month training to design and formulate the SOP of working collaboration. This joint research project aims at identifying new genes/loci for inherited skeletal disorders which occur relatively often in Pakistani and German population. This project will not only increase information about the number of new and relevant genes but also will provide the mutation spectrum of disease genes in Pakistani population, too. The data acquired in this project will help to improve genetic counseling of families suffering from the skeletal and related disorders. The knowledge will be incorporated into diagnostic & treatment strategies. Dr. Wali spent approximately one month and learnt different modern methodologies and latest techniques involved in the laboratory of the German research group. During this period, Dr. Wali worked on genetic mapping, DNA sequencing, quantitative PCR and statistical calculation involved in human genetics like LOD score calculations. This foreign training is expected to be very effective in better supervision of MS and Ph.D research fellows working under the supervision of Dr. Wali at BUIITEMS.

Award of Post-doctorate Fellowship

Reported by: Dr. Dost Mohammad Baloch

Dr. Jamil Ahmad was awarded a Postdoctorate fellowship by the International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC-WHO), a specialized agency of the United Nations in November 2007 after a competitive selection at international level. Initially, Postdoc fellowship was awarded for one year (Nov 2007-Nov 2008) but later in March 2008, Dr. Ahmad's fellowship was extended for another period of two years (Nov 2008-Nov 2010) by another fellowship selection board of IARC-France. During these three years, Dr. Ahmad has been working on Mutational analysis of high-risk (BRCA1 and BRCA2) and intermediate-risk breast cancer genes (CHEK2, ATM and BRIP1). Any genetic alteration taking place within the normal sequence of these genes is responsible for causing breast cancer among women, one of the most common cancers in Pakistani women. Dr. Ahmad has identified six novel mutations in BRCA1 and BRCA2 that were not reported previously in these two genes. In addition to the pathogenic genetic variants, Dr. Ahmad has also identified ten mis-sense genetic alterations; two of them are of high clinical significance concerning the patients of breast cancer, all over the world. In March 2009, Dr. Ahmad was awarded IARC return grant (US $ 10,000/-) by International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC-WHO) to start a pilot project on cancer research at BUIITEMS. IARC Return Grant is usually awarded to those IARC Post-doc fellows, who work at IARC for a minimum duration of two years.

Abstract. Polycrystalline spintronic material ($Cd_{0.55}Hg_{0.45}Te$) was synthesized by conventional solid state reaction. The samples ($\phi = 5$ mm and $T = 1.5$ mm) were prepared by uni-axial pressing. Samples were melted at $800^{\circ}C$ for 3-2 hours. For chemical analyses, surface morphology and structural analyses, scanning electron microscopy (SEM) equipped with EDX system and X-ray diffraction studies were performed. XRD confirmed the cubic crystal structure. The Lattice constant of ($Cd_{0.55}Hg_{0.45}Te$) as determined by XRD was 0.6464 nm.

The Miller indices (hkl) have been found by using crystallography method. The observed planes were (200), (210) and (331). The EDX analyses showed the typically compositions: Te 24.8% Cd 14.8% Al 5% and O_2 46.4 % & C 9% (3 hours treatment) and Te 28.1% Cd 16% Al 4.1% and O_2 39.3 %, Si 0.360% & C 12.1% (2 hours treatment) however we could not find any representative peak for Hg in all of the EDX analyses.
